Q2: What are the advantages and disadvantages of teens using social media in communicating with others.

Imagine a world where teens do not know how to communicate face-to-face — how would it be like? As social media gets more advanced, more and more people start to use it, especially teens. Social media is a platform that <sup>allows people</sup> ~~teens use~~ to communicate with one another on the Internet. This means no need for hussles to ~~go look for~~ ~~one one~~ walk all the way to a telephone post to call someone. There are many advantages and disadvantages to teens using social media to communicate. Teens can retrieve information on schoolwork from their friend if they are absent from school, and they can get in touch with long-distance friends as well. However, this might lead to miscommunication and misunderstanding between one another at times, and teens might get distracted as well.

One major advantage of teenagers using social media to communicate with others is that they can retrieve information on schoolwork from their friends if they are absent from school. Then, they will not be missing out on homework, or any important information the teacher has given. This allows them to be able to go back to school fully prepared, and let them get back on track as soon as possible. In the past, social media apps were not as advanced as they are nowadays. My mother used to tell me stories of how she had to walk ~~5 km~~ <sup>five</sup> kilometers ~~to~~ from her house to the telephone post. All this ~~just~~ fuss ~~to~~ just to be able to ~~to~~ call and ask her classmate a simple question. However, nowadays, students can easily send a text <sup>in seconds</sup> message ~~to~~ to their classmates through social media platforms like Whatsapp, Wechat, Telegram and more. This use of social media platforms enables students to follow up on schoolwork, making it a valuable tool when used effectively.

Another benefit of teens using social media to communicate is that they can get in-touch with long distance friends. ~~Teens~~ Teens are ~~still~~ at a schooling age. This would mean that they are facing many types of transitions <sup>in life</sup> and farewells. ~~They~~ They ~~could~~ <sup>might</sup> be separated from some of their closest friends. This is where social media comes in — ~~it~~ they allow students to text one another or even arrange ~~for~~ face-to-face meetings so that teens can ~~catch up~~ <sup>follow up</sup> on their friendships. For example, I had a ~~few~~ close friends that ~~moved~~ migrated to China
